

HAYMILL VALLEY

Bath Road, Slough, Berkshire, SL1 3SR

Haymill Valley Nature Reserve is a peaceful wildlife haven with reedbeds and woodland. In 2006, a group of BBOWT volunteers began transforming Haymill Valley. Yellow iris and marsh-marigold provide a splash of colour in the reeds. The cover of the reeds suits reed warblers which nest there and even brightly coloured kingfishers may be seen flying along the stream. The reserve has two sculptures of kingfishers – 'Millie and Milo'!

COCKSHERD BLUEBELL WOOD

Farnham Lane, SL2 2PY

Cocksherd Bluebell Wood is a Local Nature Reserve. It is ancient woodland of particular scientific and heritage interest. The woodland covers approximately 4.8 hectares. Some plants growing here are beech, field maple, honeysuckle, wild cherry and rhododendron. Key animal species such as the stag beetle, green woodpecker and bullfinch can be found here! Bluebells (as the name suggests) are the star attraction in April.

BAYLIS PARK AND MEMORIAL

Camarthen Rd, SL1 3PJ

Photo credit: Brett Jordan

Balyis Park is the most historic park in Slough. The park and the adjoining Godolphin Recreation Ground were part of the estate of Baylis House, which was originally the home to Dean Hascard, the Dean of Eton College and, until the early 20th century, the Duke of Leeds. There's lots to see at Baylis Park such as formal landscaped gardens, a wildfowl pond, streamside walks and war memorial gardens. There's also a play area for the little ones!

UPTON COURT PARK

Upton Road, Slough, SL3 7LU

Photo credit: Darren Smith

Upton Court Park is Slough's main sports park which offers naturally landscaped parkland with views of Windsor Castle and a variety of clubs and activities. Upton Court Park is Slough's largest park which has six football pitches, play areas, wetland and woodland areas, streamside walks and multiple natural areas. During the summer months, there are plenty of butterflies to see around the meadow area!

SALT HILL PARK

Bath Road, Slough, Berkshire, SL1 3SR

Salt Hill Park was the first public open space in Slough. It is 13 hectares in size which is equal to just over 18 football pitches! Salt Hill Park is Slough's premier park which offers a range of up to date facilities and activities including play areas, tennis courts, a skateboard area, and an outdoor gym. The park offers natural areas and streamside walks and there are mature hedges and trees - many of them date back to the parks original planting!

STEP INTO NATURE

Here are some greenspaces on your doorstep. Whether you want to take a peaceful walk to watch wildlife and listen to birds on your own, with friends and family, or walk with your dog, or go to somewhere to throw a ball or enjoy a playground with your children, Slough has a greenspace for you!